

1995 Form W-4P

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

What Is Form W-4P? This form is for recipients of income from annuity, pension, and certain other deferred compensation plans to tell payers whether income tax is to be withheld and on what basis. Your options depend on whether the payment is periodic or nonperiodic (including an eligible rollover distribution) as explained on page 3.

You can use this form to choose to have no income tax withheld from the payment (except for eligible rollover distributions or payments to U.S. citizens delivered outside the United States or its possessions) or to have an additional amount of tax withheld.

What Do I Need To Do? If you want no tax to be withheld, you can skip the worksheet below and go directly to the form at the bottom of this page. Otherwise, complete lines A through F of the worksheet. Many recipients can stop at line F.

Other Income? If you have a large amount of income from other sources not subject to withholding (such as interest, dividends, or taxable social security), you should consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Call 1-800-829-3676 for copies of Form 1040-ES, and Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

When Should I File? File as soon as possible to avoid underwithholding problems.

Multiple Pensions? More Than One Income? To figure the number of allowances you may claim, combine allowances and income subject to withholding from all sources on one worksheet. You can file a Form W-4P with each pension payer, but do not claim the same allowances more than once. Your withholding will usually be more accurate if you claim all allowances on the Form W-4P for the largest source of income subject to withholding.

Withholding From Pensions and Annuities

Generally, withholding applies to payments made from pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, annuity, and certain deferred compensation plans: from individual retirement arrangements (IRAs); and from commercial annuities. The method and rate of withholding depends on the kind of payment you receive.

Periodic payments from any plan above are treated as wages for the purpose of withholding. A periodic payment is one that is includible in your income for tax purposes and that you receive in installments at regular intervals over a period of more than 1 full year from the starting date of the pension or annuity. The intervals can be annual, quarterly, monthly, etc.

You can change the amount of tax to be withheld by using lines 2 and 3 of Form W-4P or to exempt the payments from withholding by using line 1 of Form W-4P. This exemption from withholding does not apply to certain recipients who have payments delivered outside the United States or its possessions. See Exemption From Income Tax Withholding later.

Caution: There are penalties for not paying enough tax during the year, either through withholding or estimated tax payments. New retirees, especially, should see Pub. 505. It explains the estimated tax requirements and penalties in detail. You may be able to avoid quarterly estimated tax payments by having enough tax withheld from your pension or annuity using Form W-4P.

Unless you tell your payer otherwise, tax must be withheld on periodic payments as if you are married and claiming three withholding allowances. This means that tax will be withheld if your pension or annuity is more than $1,150 a month ($13,900 a year).

There are some kinds of periodic payments for which you cannot use Form W-4P since they are already defined as wages subject to income tax withholding. Retirement pay for service in the U.S. Armed Forces generally falls into this category. Certain nonqualified deferred compensation plans and state and local deferred compensation plans described in section 457 also fall into this category. Your payer should be able to tell you whether Form W-4P will apply. Social security payments are not subject to withholding but may be includible in income.

For periodic payments, your certificate stays in effect until you change or revoke it. Your payer must notify you each year of your right to elect to have no tax withheld or to revoke your election.

Nonperiodic payments will have income tax withheld at a flat 10% rate unless the payment is an eligible rollover distribution. You do not have the option of claiming exemption from withholding for eligible rollover distributions from qualified pension or annuity plans (e.g., 401(k) pension plans) or tax-sheltered annuity plans. See Pub. 505 for more details. Tax will be withheld from an eligible rollover distribution at a flat 20% rate, unless the entire distribution is transferred by the plan administrator in a direct rollover to an IRA or qualified pension or tax-shelter annuity plan. Since you are no longer entitled to claim exemption from withholding on distributions from such plans, do not file Form W-4P with your plan administrator.

Distributions from an IRA that are payable on demand are treated as nonperiodic payments. You can elect to have no income tax withheld from a nonperiodic payment by filing Form W-4P with the payer and checking the box on line 1. Generally, your election to have no tax withheld will apply to any later payment from the same plan. You cannot use line 2 for nonperiodic payments. But you may use line 3 to specify that an additional amount be withheld.

Exemption From Withholding—Payments Outside the United States

The election to be exempt from income tax withholding does not apply to any periodic payment or nonperiodic distribution that is delivered outside the United States or its possessions to a U.S. citizen or resident alien.

Other recipients who have these payments delivered outside the United States or its possessions can elect exemption only if an individual certifies to the payer that the individual is not (1) a U.S. citizen or resident alien or (2) an individual to whom section 877 of the Internal Revenue Code applies (concerning expatriation to avoid tax). The certification must be made in a statement to the payer under the penalties of perjury. A nonresident alien who elects exemption from withholding under section 3405 is subject to withholding under section 1441.

Revoking the Exemption From Withholding

If you want to revoke your previously filed exemption from withholding for periodic payments, file another Form W-4P with the payer. If you want tax withheld at the rate set by law (married with three allowances), write "Revoked" by the checkbox on line 1 of the form. If you want tax withheld at any different rate, complete line 2 on the form.

If you want to revoke your previously filed exemption for nonperiodic payments, write "Revoked" by the checkbox on line 1 and file Form W-4P with the payer.

Statement of Income Tax Withheld From Your Pension or Annuity

By January 31 of next year, you will receive a statement from your payer showing the total amount of your pension or annuity payments and the total income tax withheld during the year.
