General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code.

Purpose of Form.—A corporation that expects a net operating loss (NOL) in the current tax year may file Form 1138 to extend the time for payment of tax for the immediately preceding tax year. This includes extending the time for payment of a tax deficiency. The payment of tax that may be postponed cannot exceed the expected overpayment from the carryback of the NOL.

Only payments of tax that are required to be paid after the filing of Form 1138 are eligible for extension. Do not file this form if all the required payments have been paid or were required to have been paid.

If the corporation previously filed Form 1138 and later finds information that will change the amount of the expected NOL, the corporation may file a revised Form 1138. If the amount of the NOL is increased based on the new information, the corporation may postpone the payment of a larger amount of tax as long as the larger amount has not yet been paid or is not yet required to be paid. If the amount of the NOL is reduced because of the new information, the corporation must pay the tax to the extent that the amount of tax postponed on the original filing exceeds the amount of tax postponed on the revised filing.

When and Where To File.—File Form 1138 after the start of the tax year of the expected NOL but before the tax of the preceding tax year is required to be paid.

File Form 1138 with the Internal Revenue Service Center where the corporation files its income tax return.

Period of Extension.—In general, the extension for paying the tax expires at the end of the month in which the return for the tax year of the expected NOL is required to be filed (including extensions).

The corporation may further extend the time for payment by filing Form 1139, Corporation Application for Tentative Refund, before the period of extension ends. The period will be further extended until the date the IRS informs the corporation that it has allowed or disallowed the application in whole or in part.

Termination of Extension.—The IRS may terminate the extension if it believes that any part of the form contains erroneous or unreasonable information. The IRS may also terminate the extension if it believes it may not be able to collect the tax.

Interest.—Interest is charged on postponed amounts from the dates that the payments would normally be due. The interest is figured at the underpayment rate specified in section 6621.

Additional Information.—A corporation may file Form 1138 separately or with Form 7004, Application for Automatic Extension of Time To File Corporation Income Tax Return. If Form 1138 and Form 7004 are filed together, Form 1138 will reduce or eliminate the amount of tax to be deposited when Form 7004 is filed.

Specific Instructions

Address.—Include the suite, room, or other unit number after the street address. If the Post Office does not deliver mail to the street address and the corporation has a P.O. box, show the box number instead of the street address.

If your address is outside the United States or its possessions or territories, fill in the line for “city, town, or post office, state, and ZIP code” in the following order: city, province or state, postal code, and the name of the country. Do not abbreviate the country name.

Line 2.—The amount of the expected NOL must be based on all of the facts relating to the operation of the corporation. Consider the following items when estimating the amount of the expected NOL:

1. The number and dollar amounts of the corporation’s Government contracts that have been canceled,
2. Profit and loss statements, and
3. Other factors peculiar to the corporation’s operations.

See section 172 and Pub. 536, Net Operating Losses, to help determine the amount of the expected NOL. Limitations apply to (a) the amount of taxable income of a new loss corporation for any tax year ending after an ownership change that may be offset by any pre-change NOLs and (b) the use of preacquisition losses of one corporation to offset recognized built-in gains of another corporation. See sections 382 and 384 for details.

Line 3.—Enter the reduction of previously determined tax attributable to the carryback, for tax years before the tax year of the NOL. Figure the previously determined tax according to section 1314(a). This is generally the amount shown on the return, plus any amounts assessed as deficiencies before Form 1138 is filed minus any abatements, credits, or refunds allowed or made before Form 1138 is filed.

Attach a schedule showing how the reduction was figured. See the instructions for the corporate income tax return for information on figuring the NOL deduction and recomputing the tax.

Line 6a.—For the year shown on line 4, enter on line 6a the total of the following:

1. The total tax shown on the return, plus
2. Any amount assessed as a deficiency (or as interest or a penalty) prior to the filing of this Form 1138.

Line 6b.—Enter the total of the following:

1. The amount of tax paid or required to be paid before the date this form is filed. This includes any amount assessed as a deficiency (or as interest or a penalty) if the 10th day after notice and demand for payment occurred before the date this form is filed. An amount of tax for which the corporation has received an extension of time to pay (under section 6161) is not considered required to be paid before the end of the extension.

2. The amount of refunds, credits, and abatements made before the date this form is filed.
