General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Schedule

- Use Part I to show adjustments to separate limitation income or (losses) in determining the numerator of the limitation fraction for each separate category.
- Use Part II to show the year-end balances of future separate limitation income that must be recharacterized as income of other separate categories (as the result of current year or prior year separate limitation losses that were allocated to those other separate categories).
- Use Part III to show: (a) the balances in the corporation's overall foreign loss accounts at the beginning of the tax year, (b) any current year adjustments, and (c) the balances in the overall foreign loss accounts at the end of the tax year.

Important: Complete Schedule J only once. Include adjustments for each applicable separate category.

Computer-Generated Schedule J

A computer-generated Schedule J can be filed if it conforms to the IRS version of the schedule. Expand Schedule J to properly complete Parts I, II, and III of the Schedule if the corporation has more than one separate category of "other income." Income from each sanctioned country to which section 901(j) applies and each item of income resourced under a tax treaty are treated as a separate category of "other income."

Specific Instructions

Part I

Note: See Notice 89-3, 1989-1 C.B. 623, and Regulations section 1.904(f)-12 for more information on the ordering of adjustments in Part I.

Line 1. Enter in each applicable column the income or (loss) from column 12 of the corresponding Schedule A for that separate category.

Important: Be sure to consider on this line the possible interplay between separate limitation losses and any net operating losses or net capital losses of which they may be a part.

Line 2. This allocation grid must be completed to show the pro rata share of each separate limitation loss to allocate among other applicable separate categories.

To determine each pro rata share:

1. Add all of the separate limitation loss amounts entered across line 1. Then add all of the separate limitation income amounts entered across line 1.

2. If the combined separate limitation losses for the tax year do not exceed the combined separate limitation income for the tax year, the pro rata share of each separate limitation loss to allocate to each category with positive income is as follows:

$$\frac{\text{Separate limitation income}}{\text{Combined separate limitation income from all categories with positive income}} \times \text{Separate limitation loss being allocated}$$

3. If the combined separate limitation losses for the tax year exceed the combined separate limitation income for the tax year, the pro rata share of each separate limitation loss to allocate to each category having income is as follows:

$$\frac{\text{Separate limitation loss being allocated}}{\text{Combined separate limitation losses from all categories with losses}} \times \text{Separate limitation income in a given category}$$

If separate limitation losses can be allocated, enter the total amounts allocated in the bold-outlined boxes as positive numbers. Enter each separate amount allocated to a given category across the same line under the appropriate column heading to which it was allocated.

Note: The numbers entered across any given line should "zero out."

The combined separate limitation losses for the tax year that are more than the combined separate limitation income for the tax year reduce the U.S. source income (if any) for the tax year. If the corporation has no U.S. source income for the tax year, or if the excess of its combined separate limitation losses for the tax year over combined separate limitation income for the tax year exceeds its U.S. source income for the tax year, the excess is treated as a net operating loss. This loss may be carried over or back to other tax years according to the rules of section 172.

Example 1. Corporation X has separate limitation income of $4,000 in its general limitation income category (line 1, column (i)) and separate limitation income of $1,000 in its financial services income category (line 1, column (iv)). In addition, the corporation has a separate limitation loss of $2,000 in its shipping income category (line 1, column (v)).

Since the corporation's combined separate limitation losses for the tax year ($2,000) do not exceed its combined separate limitation income for the tax year ($5,000), the entire $2,000 may be allocated to other separate categories. Therefore, Corporation X enters a positive $2,000 in the bold-outlined box on line 2e, column (v).

To compute the portion of the $2,000 separate limitation loss that is allocable to general limitation income, Corporation X divides the $4,000 of income by $5,000 (the combined separate limitation income from all separate categories with positive income). The result of 80% is multiplied by the separate limitation loss of $2,000. Corporation X enters the product of $1,600 on line 2e, column (i).

To compute the portion of the $2,000 separate limitation loss that is allocable to financial services income, Corporation X divides the $1,000 of separate limitation income by $5,000. The result of 20% is multiplied by the separate limitation loss of $2,000. Corporation X enters the product of $400 on line 2e, column (iv).

Corporation X enters $2,400 ($4,000 minus $1,600) on line 3, column (i); $600 ($1,000 minus $400) on line 3, column (iv); and $0 (negative $2,000 plus separate $2,000) on line 3, column (v).

Line 4. Enter the overall foreign losses for the tax year (from line 3) if they have reduced U.S. source income for the tax year.

Important: If an overall foreign loss has reduced U.S. source income, do not complete the remainder of Part I for that separate category. However, complete Parts II and III for that category to show the year-end balance in the separate limitation loss and overall foreign loss accounts.

Line 5. Recapture overall foreign losses that reduced U.S. source income in prior tax years (section 904(f)(1)). To do this, treat a portion of the current year separate limitation income that is of the same category as the loss that resulted in the prior year overall foreign loss as U.S. source income. Recapture continues until the applicable overall foreign loss account balance (Part III) is reduced to zero.

The amount of any current year separate limitation income subject to recapture is the smaller of the balance in the applicable overall foreign loss account (the applicable line 1 amount of Part III), or 50% of all amounts entered on line 3, Part I.

The corporation can make an annual, revocable election to recapture a greater portion of the balance in an overall foreign loss account by attaching a statement to Form 1118 indicating:

1. The percentage and dollar amount of the separate limitation income that is treated as U.S. source income and

2. The percentage and dollar amount of the balance (both before and after recapture) in the overall foreign loss account that is recaptured.

If the corporation disposes of property that was used predominantly in a foreign trade or business and that generated foreign source income in the same separate category as the applicable overall foreign loss account, the corporation generally must recognize gain on the disposition to the extent of the balance in the account (after amounts are recaptured under section 904(f)(1)), whether or not gain would otherwise be recognized on the disposition. See section 904(f)(3) and Regulations section 1.904(f)-2(d). Such gain is treated as foreign source taxable income in the same separate category as the applicable overall foreign loss account and is subject to recapture to the extent of the corporation's foreign source taxable income in that separate category or, if less, 100% of the corporation's foreign source taxable income.

Note: For dispositions after October 22, 2004, the previous paragraph applies to certain dispositions of stock in a CFC. See section 904(f)(3)(D) for details.

Line 7. If a separate limitation loss was allocated in a prior tax year and the corporation has income during the current tax year in the separate category from which the loss was allocated, that current year income (if it was not previously recharacterized) must be recharacterized as income of the separate category(ies) to which the loss was allocated in the prior year(s) (section 904(f)(5)).

If a prior year separate limitation loss was allocated to more than one separate category and there is not enough current year income in the separate category from which the loss was allocated to recharacterize all remaining balances, then the current year income must be recharacterized as income of the other separate categories on a pro rata basis in the following manner:

Current year income in separate category from which losses were previously allocated	×	$\frac{\text{Amount remaining to be recharacterized as income of a given separate category}}{\text{Amounts remaining to be recharacterized as income of all separate categories}}$

Any amount that is not recharacterized during the tax year (i.e., the excess of separate limitation losses previously allocated over current year income in that same separate category) must be entered into the grid at Part II.

Note: Recharacterization of separate limitation income does not result in recharacterizing any tax. The rules of Regulations section 1.904-6 apply on an annual basis for allocating taxes to separate categories.

If prior year separate limitation losses can be recharacterized, the total amounts recharacterized should be entered into the bold-outlined boxes as negative numbers. Each prior-year separate limitation loss recharacterized should be entered as a positive number on the same line under the appropriate column heading to which it was recharacterized.

Note: The numbers entered across any given line should "zero out."

Example 2. Assume the same facts in Example 1 on page 3. Also assume that, in a subsequent tax year, Corporation X has $1,500 of income in its shipping income category (on line 6, column (v), of its Schedule J).

Since there is not enough under shipping income to recharacterize the entire $2,000 prior-year balance remaining to be recharacterized, Corporation X will prorate the $1,500 of income in that subsequent year as follows.

- To compute the portion to be recharacterized as general limitation income, Corporation X should:
 1. Divide the $1,600 remaining to be recharacterized from shipping income to general limitation income by the $2,000 remaining to be recharacterized from shipping income to all separate categories.

2. Multiply the result (80%) by the $1,500 of shipping income.

3. Enter $1,200 as a positive number on line 7e, column (i).

- To compute the portion to be recharacterized as financial services income, Corporation X should:

1. Divide the $400 remaining to be recharacterized from shipping income to financial services income by $2,000.

2. Multiply the result (20%) by the $1,500 of shipping income.

3. Enter $300 as a positive number on line 7e, column (iv).

Corporation X enters the $1,500 of shipping income that was recharacterized in the bold-outlined box at line 7e, column (v). Note that the total amounts entered across line 7e now equal zero.

Finally, Corporation X completes the Part II recharacterization balances grid by entering $400 ($1,600 minus $1,200) on line e, column (i), and $100 ($400 minus $300) on line e, column (iv).

Line 10. Enter U.S. source losses allocated to separate categories with income on line 9 for the current tax year. Use the following formula:

U.S. source loss	×	$\frac{\text{Line 9 income in a given category}}{\text{Combined line 9 income of all categories with income on line 9}}$
------------------	---	--

U.S. source losses that are part of a net operating or net capital loss that are carried back or forward to the current tax year (section 172 or Regulations sections 1.1502-21(b) and 1.1502-79(a)) are allocated first to U.S. source income for the current tax year, and then to the separate category(ies) with income on line 9 for the current tax year using the rules set forth above.

U.S. source losses in excess of the combined line 9 income for a tax year must be treated as a net operating loss that may be carried back or forward to other tax years using the rules of section 172.

Part II

If a separate limitation loss was allocated in a prior tax year and the corporation has income during the current tax year in the separate category from which the loss was allocated, that current year income (if it was not previously recharacterized) must be recharacterized as income of the category to which the loss was allocated in the prior year(s) (section 904(f)(5)).

To determine the amounts to enter into the grid:

1. Add the current year separate limitation loss allocations (subject to Regulations section 1.904(f)-1(d) capital gains adjustments) to last year's year-end balances.

2. Subtract the amounts recharacterized during the current tax year.

3. Enter the result on the line (line a–i) for the separate category from which losses were previously allocated, under the appropriate column (column (i)–(ix)) to which the losses were previously allocated.

Example 3. Assume the same facts in Example 1 on page 3. Also assume that Corporation X does not have any remaining balances from any prior allocations of losses from its shipping income category to its general limitation income or its financial services income. The corporation should enter $1,600 on line e, column (i), and $400 on line e, column (iv).

Part III

Line 1. Enter the ending balances from last year's schedule.

Lines 2, 3, and 5. Show any adjustments made to the overall foreign loss accounts for each separate category during the tax year. See Regulations section 1.904(f)-1(d) for a list of possible additions to the accounts. See Regulations section 1.904(f)-1(e) for a list of possible reductions (including recapture).

Line 6. Enter the year-end balances of the overall foreign loss accounts for each separate category.
